

Name: _____

CROSS-EXAMINATION

Check the box for the following cross examination questions to indicate which type of question is being asked. Then, on the line below it, indicate which way is more strategic to ask the question, and why.

1. At what point is it permissible for a government to limit a persons individual liberty?

Open Ended Question

Conditional Question

2. Do you have a piece of evidence to support that?

Leading Question

Direct Question

3. If I can show that fossil fuel subsidies can actually reduce pollution on net, do I win this argument?

Direct Question

Conditional Question

4. Your standard is reducing political violence. That is consequential, right?

Open Ended Question

Leading Question

5. What is the tagline for your second contention?

Close Ended Question

Leading Question

Select The Best Question

BELOW, EACH BOX WILL HAVE THE SAME QUESTION PHRASED IN THREE DIFFERENT WAYS. CIRCLE THE QUESTION YOU THINK IS PHRASED BEST.

1.) So, you argue that your side reduces terrorism. Can you explain how?

2.) In your second contention you argue that US military arms sales reduce terrorism. What is the warrant for that?

3.) In your second contention, you say that there is a reduction in terrorism. But why is that true?

1.) Why do you think the plan will happen?

2.) What part(s) of the USFG are responsible for the implementation of your plan?

3.) Wouldn't Congress be a better agent to implement the plan since it will be faster than the courts?

1.) Do you have an example of compulsory voting increasing womxn participation in democracy?

2.) Could you provide an example for your second contention?

3.) Can you show a single instance where implementing compulsory voting has led to an increase in democratic participation amongst womxn?